

SALEM (Ore.)

MAY 7 1961

OREGON STATESMAN

Circ.: m. 21,438

S. 21,616

Front Page	Edn Page	Other Page

Date: MAY 7 1961

Exit for Advisers?

Walter Lippmann thinks that the company around President Kennedy that advised him to go ahead with the Cuban invasion ought to resign. What an exodus that would make! The problem of unemployment would then shift to the campuses. One chap who is expendable is Allen Dulles, CIA head, though the President manfully protects him. He will surely bow out before the year is out.

The one chap who had the situation sized up right is Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee. He submitted a memo in opposition. Yet it was Fulbright who was turned down for secretary of state, in favor of Dean Rusk.